Eye-Sight

NOTHING is more surprising than the change which has come over the public with regard to Sight Testing.

TEN years ago it was a matter of difficulty to overcome the reluctance which people manifested to scientific examination of their eyes. They never had been tested and did not see why they should be now.

TODAY, however, matters are entirely changed, those who come for the special purpose of having their eyes examined. far out-number those who come asking for Spectacles, and this I take as a compliment, proving as it does, that they believe that we should not supply glasses unless they would be of real benefit.

I may surprise you to learn that many hundreds of people have been refused spectacles by us, either because their eyes were not in need of them, or more generally, because they had allowed them to get into such a serious condition that medical attention had become necessary.

THE DAY when ready-made Glasses can be handed over the counter is long past.

ANY eyes require lenses specially made to suit their peculiar condition; it is, therefore, most essential that glasses should only be supplied after the most thorough examination by a competent and fully qualified optician.

YOU cannot afford to take chances with your eyes—you don't with us because—Since 1901 The Segall Service has been synonymous with the Best Optical Service obtainable.

"Didn't Think," No Excuse People Injure Others More by "Not Thinking" Than in Any Other Way, By Dorothy Dix.

GREAT many of us-and we are not hard-hearted people are not hard-hearted people either—read with delight the other day of a judge who had the courage to sentence a man to eight years in the penitentiary for accidentally killing his friend. It is about time that somebody called a halt not only on the fool who fools with a gun, but on the other criminally careless individuals who go on their detastating way through the world, breaking hearts and ruining homes, and who think they have sufficiently atoned for the harm they do by saying they didn't intend it.

A Parallel.

A Parallel.

What reason that anybody ought to be expected to accept can an intelligent human being give for not thinking? It always reminds me of a negrophilosopher I once knew, who meted out a stern justice to her offspring, and who was particularly severe on them when they dared to offer the excuse. "I didn't think," by way of a pannees for their shortcomings. "Didn't think, didn't think," she would exclaim, wrathfully, "whuts de good in havin' a thinker of you don't wak it?"

So say we all, brethren and sisters—what's the use?

To take the matter up in its most practical aspect is to recognize the what's the use?

To take the matter up in its most practical aspect is to recognize the fact that it is other people's carelessness that lays our heaviest burdens upon us. This is especially true as regards women, and there isn't a mother, and wife, and housekeeper in the land who doesn't know that it is because her family don't think that she must slave at a never-ending job, that has no letup from year's end to year's end.

Even more to be deplored than this is the lack of thought we show in our conduct to those of our own household and whose happiness or misery lies in our hands.

The Saddest Sight.

What, for instance, are those husbands going to say who took the jewel of a woman's happiness in their keeping and then were so careless that they threw it away? The world is full of heart-hungry wives, who are starving for a little appreciation, a little love, a little praise.

Another place where we deserve to do time for our criminal carelessness is in the way we talk before servants. We discuss the most intimate matters before them. We hazard guesses at people's motives. We repeat rumors of intrigues. We talk as if the maid who was waiting behind our chair were deaf as the adder of the scriptures and dumb as a coffin nall, instead of being an elongated ear and a talking machine combined.

Then, when a distorted and garbled report soes forth of some family hap-

Of course, these people always excuse themselves by saying they didn't think. It should never be accepted.

For my part, I would prefer to be killed by the clean stilletto stab of an enemy to being kicked to death by a donkey, and I would just as soon have my feelings hurt, or my vanity wounded, by an intentional unkindness as by blundering stupidity of the criminally careless who never think.
